

IJPBA*: A Leading Specialist Reference Resource for Pharmaceutical Research and Development

Health care is one of the most critical areas of today's world, where almost every country experiencing a gap between need and available resources. The world of healthcare is changing, because we are reaching new frontiers never seen before in the history of our profession. To encourage researchers to work together in more integrated and collaborative ways, Mandsaur Institute of Pharmacy started International Journal of Pharmaceutical and Biological Achieves.

Public health and primary health care are avenues that pharmacists are increasingly involved in across the world. These new expansions of the profession can give pharmacists a better chance to impact on health care and have greater responsibility for patient outcomes.

The journal has emerged to be a leading specialist reference resource of pharmaceutical development, highlighting cutting-edge research, new concepts and theories, and fresh practical ideas and initiatives. It includes research papers, review articles, case studies, and technical note to serves as an innovative practice reference for managers in the health care and pharmaceutical industries, offering insights, techniques and strategies.

Our mission is to position IJPBA as the leading journal in the field of pharmaceutical and health care science which will provide a strong platform for scholars to publish their research ideas and scientific knowledge.

My best wishes to editorial team members and authors.
